What we do

We are a provider of superior performing compressed air, vacuum, and inert gas systems. AIRpipe is advancing the compressed air and inert gas industry with its aluminum piping solutions;

- Superior reliability & longevity
- Improved productivity
- Environmental sustainability
- Quick & easy modular installation

Our story

AIRpipe has been engaging in the air compressor industry and air transmission industry since 1997, and in 2008 the company purchased a campus to manufacture the aluminum pipe and fittings used for AIRpipe's network system for the compressed air, vacuum, and inert gas applications.

We have installations in the UK, South America, Asia, Germany, Australia, Spain, Mexico, and the United States. AIRpipe has over 3,000 users and 5,000 projects installed.

Engineered for you

AIRpipe technologies have been designed & engineered based on feedback from installers, engineers, unions, and distributors involved in the compressed air piping industry. The unique grab ring (20-50 mm) and lugged ring (63-200 mm) designs ensures zero risk of disconnections and leaks.
